

Parent Education Network (PEN) Presents:

“Learning To Read, Reading To Learn”

(Parents and Professionals Helping All Children Learn To Read!)

Workshop Dates and Locations: (Free Lunch at both sessions— noon to 1:00 p.m.)

- ★ April 20, 2010 10:00 a.m.- 12:00 p.m. 32° Masonic Learning Center for Children, Ballroom, 2701 North Third Street-Rear, Harrisburg, PA 17110
- ★ May 6, 2010 10:00 a.m.- 12:00 p.m. School District of Philadelphia, Education Center, Conference Room 1075, 440 North Broad St., Philadelphia, PA 19130

★ This PEN workshop offers participants:

- ◆ An understanding of the roles of parents, educators and community professionals in supporting reading development in pre-literacy (birth-school entrance) and school-age students regardless of academic abilities.
- ◆ An overview of the types of resources that are available in the home, school and community provider environments to enhance reading development.
- ◆ A review of No Child Left Behind (NCLB) and how it supports reading development for all children.
- ◆ Options for parent and professional involvement in a child’s reading development and education programs.
- ◆ An understanding of how the Pennsylvania Standards Aligned System (SAS) and the Response to Instruction and Intervention framework (RTII) support reading instruction for all students at all levels.

Workshop Presenters:

PA Parent Resource & Information Center
(PA PIRC)

PA Training & Technical Assistance Networks
PaTTAN-Harrisburg and King of Prussia

To Register For This Free Workshop:

Call: Parent Education Network

800 522-5827

Fax: 717 600-8101

Registration deadlines:

- ★ April 15, 2010 (Harrisburg)
- ★ May 1, 2010 (Philadelphia)

PEN, 2107 Industrial Highway, York, PA 17402

★ Registered Parents Attending the Workshop
Receive A Free Book for Their Child!